RODAN range of products update

Franke has now included the new RODAN series of accessories in its range of products. The classic design of RODAN stainless steel accessories with their square-edge side profiles are suitable for the modern fitting of heavily used washrooms and WC facilities. These accessories give planners and operators the option to design individual sanitary room concepts in public and commercial areas in a price-conscious but aesthetic manner.

RODAN products distinguish themselves with their functional form as well as a high-quality stainless steel finish. The material that is resistant to corrosion and temperature allows for a robust installation, is low-maintenance, durable and so particularly economical.

A satin finish surface is used for the RODAN series that emphasises the structure of the treated stainless steel material.

The range of products with on-wall installation and recessed versions includes various paper towel dispensers and soap dispensers and are supplemented with waste containers, toilet roll holders and combinations.
